Prof. Martin Andler

Initiative for Science in Europe \(ISE\) | President

Martin Andler is a mathematician, professor emeritus the University of Versailles Saint-Quentin (Paris-Saclay); he has held visiting positions at MIT and Rutgers University. His research focuses on two main areas: representation theory of Lie groups, and the history of 20th century mathematics. He chaired Animath, a French organisation promoting mathematics for students between 1998 and 2017. At the European level, he was Vice-President of Euroscience between 2012 and 2018, and has been president of ISE since 2017.
